

Cookie Policy

This section is an integral part of the Website Privacy Policy.

Cookies are small pieces of code installed on the user's browser which help the website to deliver its services.

Types of cookies

Technical and session cookies

This kind of cookies are necessary for the correct function of some areas of the website. Cookies in this category include persistent and session cookies. Without these, the website or some parts of it might not function correctly. For this reason, they are always used, regardless of the user's preferences. This kind of cookies are always sent from our domain.

- Cookies for activities strictly necessary for operation

The website uses cookies to save the user's session and for other activities strictly necessary for the site's operation, such as monitoring the distribution of traffic.

- Cookies used for the purposes of saving preferences, optimisation and statistics

The website uses cookies to save the user's navigation preferences and optimise their experience. This type of cookies include, for example, language and currency settings and statistical management by the owner of the site.

Anonymised analytical cookies

Google Analytics (Google Inc.) with anonymised IP

This is used to count visits to our website and to collect statistics of visits and provenance of users. It is useful for statistical purposes and to improve the services we offer.

For this service, Google Analytics has been set to anonymise IPs, meaning that we can only see aggregated data and not specific information.

Non-anonymised analytical cookies

- Google Analytics (Google Inc.)

Google Analytics is a web analysis service provided by Google Inc. ("Google"). Google uses the personal data collected to track and examine the use of this application, compile reports and share them with other services developed by Google.

Google may use personal data to contextualise and personalise advertisements on its advertising network.

- Google Tag Manager (Google Inc.)

Google Tag Manager is a statistical service provided by Google Inc.

Social media cookies

This website uses cookies to improve the services and users' experience and it uses social media cookies to allow the interaction with the most common social networks. These types of cookies simply allow us to provide you with content that we feel may be of interest to you.

First-party and third-party cookies

A Cookie is "first party" or "third party" based on the website or domain from which it comes.

First-party cookies are essentially the cookies set and / or managed by the site owner. For these cookies, the obligation to provide information, to acquire consent and / or to allow the possible blocking of cookies lies with the owner of the site. Third-party cookies are cookies set by a domain other than the one visited by the user. For these Cookies, the obligation to provide information and indicate the methods for the possible consent and / or blocking of Cookies lies with the third party, while the owner of the site is only obliged to insert the link to the site of the third party where such elements are available.

Which cookies do we use?

This section contains all the information on the cookies installed through our website. In particular, rheathinktogether.com uses cookies of a technical nature. Technical cookies can be divided into the following sub-categories:

- Browsing cookies, by means of which browsing preferences can be saved and, if necessary, the User's browsing experience can be optimized;
- Analytics cookies, including those of third parties, by means of which statistical information is acquired on how users navigate. This information is treated in an aggregate and anonymous form;
- Functional cookies, also from third parties, used to activate specific functions of this website and necessary to provide the service or improve it.

These Cookies, as specified in the previous paragraph "Types of cookies" of this Cookie Policy, being of a technical nature, do not require your prior consent to be installed and used and their use is legally based on our legitimate interest in the proper functioning of our site.

As mentioned, third-party cookies are also operational on our website, i.e. cookies created by a website other than the one the user is currently visiting. In particular, we inform you that our website uses the following services that release cookies:

Cookies	Typology	Functionality	expiration rhea_cur_lang	Tecnico 1st	Language chosen by the user	30 days
mil-rhea	Tecnico 1st	Used to manage user session	Session cookie

Who uses the information stored in the Cookies?

The information stored in the Cookies from our website is used exclusively by rheathinktogether.com except those identified as "Third party cookies", used and managed by external entities to provide services requested by us to improve our services and the browsing experience of the user on our site.

Purposes and legal basis of data processing and storage times

Data processing is carried out for the purposes indicated in the description of each specific type of cookie. For technical, session and anonymised analytical cookies, the legal basis for processing is the legitimate interest of the data controller to manage and optimise their website.

For third-party and profiling cookies, the legal basis for processing is the data subject's explicit consent.

Data is stored for the period necessary to fulfil the above purposes.

For further information regarding the processing of personal data by means of cookies, please consult the Website Privacy Policy.

FAQ and technical information about cookies

How can I prevent cookies being stored on my computer?

You need to set your preferences for each browser you use (Internet Explorer, Google Chrome, Mozilla Firefox or Safari). There are several ways of managing cookies, for example you can enable or disable all cookies; remove specific cookies which have already been stored; block the storage of cookies on your computer from specific websites; or block third-party cookies (i.e. cookies stored on your computer by another website from the one you are visiting).

How can I remove / manage the cookies on my computer?

In the event that you have concerns or questions about the use of cookies, it is always possible to prevent them being sent and read, for example by changing your browser privacy settings to block certain types of cookies or by using tools made available in this Statement.
